Clarification of news about the integration of Precise BioMatch Embedded in a credit card

Precise Biometrics announced earlier today on the company's website that Precise BioMatch™ Embedded, the company's algorithm solution for fingerprint recognition in products with small sensors and limited platforms, is integrated in a Kona-i credit card through cooperation with Fingerprint Cards. The card was launched yesterday at the trade show Money 20/20 in Las Vegas.

Precise Biometrics clarifies that the launched credit card is not commercialized and that the integration therefore has no financial impact on the company.
